CORONER'S JURY FINDS DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Claims There Was No Criminal Negligence in Death of Fred W. Germer

AIRCRAFT EXECUTIVE

Accident Occurred at Cornwells Heights, Jan. 17th, As Press Was Unloaded

Accidental death was the verdict brought in by a Coroner's jury concerning the death of Fred W. Germer at an inquest held by Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Rigby, last evening, in the Bristol Municipal Building. Germer, president of the Advanced Aircraft Company, Cornwells Heights, met his death at the plant when a heavy drill press fell on him.

Coroner Rigby swore in the jury of six men, consisting of: Joseph Elberson, Edward S. Dougherty, Horace C. States, Irvin E. Scheffey, C. Donald Moyer and George W. Bruden. The Coroner informed the jury: "Fred W. Germer, 43-31 45th Street, Sunnyside, Long Island, president of the Advanced Aircraft Company, Cornwells Heights, met his death at the plant on January 17, 1947, at about 11 a. m., when a heavy drill press fell on him, fracturing his skull and crushing his chest." The members of the jury were told to weigh the evidence and determine if anyone was criminally negligent in the death of Germer.

The first witness was Michael Tripodi, Lafayette avenue, Eddington, superintendent of the shop. Coroner Rigby asked Tripodi if he saw the accident happen. He replied he had. He was then told to tell in his own words just what did happen. Tripodi said that a large drill press was on a trailer to be unloaded and Mr. Germer and himself were watching when he saw it fall. Mr. Tripodi stated that he yelled to Mr. Germer to get out of the way, but guessed he did not hear him and the drill press fell on Germer.

The Coroner asked Tripodi if he knew what caused the press to fall. He replied that it was "top-heavy." Coroner Rigby asked him if every precaution had been used in unloading the drill press, to which he replied as far as he knew all precautions had been taken.

Tripodi was asked if he was there when they first started to unload the press. He replied that he was. He was asked who was in charge of the unloading, to which he answered "no one." Coroner Rigby asked the witness what Germer was doing there. The witness replied he came out of his office to show the men where he wanted the drill press placed. One of the jurors asked how high the trailer was. Tripodi replied that it was about 22 inches from the floor. Another juror asked

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Bargains at the sale of personal property of the late Rosa B. Hulshizer, Doylestown, proved to be scarce. Rather high prices were received for most of the household articles.

One of the articles claiming much attention was a one-day walnut grandfather clock. E. Newlin Brown, of Doylestown, who served as auctioneer, received a bid of $100 on the antique, and steadily the bids mounted until they reached $240, when the clock was sold to an undisclosed bidder.

Correspondingly high prices were received for other antiques, one of which was a cherry stand, which sold for $27.

Keen interest was shown also in the disposal of a Haviland china set of 124 pieces, which sold for $155.

During the sale, which amounted to almost $1,900, prices received for other articles were as follows: tankard, $24; vases, $10 to $25; cups, $3 to $5 each; silver service set of pitchers, $5; Victorian sofa, $65; tilt-top table, $50; card table, $27; cherry chest, $25.

Rocking chair, $30; picture frames, $4; bureau, $30; gilt mirror, $15; studio couch, $35, and piano, $25.

The real estate was sold at a private sale to Dr. Howard R. Hicks, of Doylestown.

The sale, which was in charge of the executor, J. Purdy Weiss, was attended by no less than 250 persons.

In session at the headquarters of Tyro Hall Grange, Buckingham, the approximately 65 persons in attendance were given warning relative to the spread of hoof and mouth disease among cattle in this country.

This was given by Frank H. Lake, a representative of the agricultural committee, who said this dread disease has broken out in Mexico, and that efforts are being made to prevent it getting into this country. Pointing out this is a very serious disease and often results in the destruction of entire herds, Mr. Lake said it is highly important that efforts be made to prevent its spread.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hummer were hosts at the meeting, which was in charge of the president, Frank H. Lake.

PASTOR, DISCOVERER OF CHURCH FIRE, DIES

Rev. Donald McFall Succumbs in Quakertown Hospital Yesterday

INTERMENT IN BANGOR

QUAKERTOWN, Feb. 19 — A stroke, thought to have been induced by a fire which destroyed the church of which he was pastor, caused the death yesterday afternoon of the Rev. Donald McFall. The clergyman, pastor of Bethel Evangelical and United Brethren Church, which was razed on February 9th, died in Quakertown Hospital. The Rev. Mr. McFall was 43 years of age.

A native of Bangor, he was a graduate of Pennsylvania State College, and of the Evangelical School of Theology, Reading. Congregations served by him during the past several years were Lehighton, Big Creek, Steelton and Charleston, he coming here three years ago. The clergyman was a member of the Masonic lodge.

Survivors are his wife and three children, parents, and two sisters.

Arrangements are being made for interment at Bangor.

The loss caused by the church fire was $30,000. The blaze was discovered by the pastor who noticed an unusual amount of smoke emanating from the chimney shortly before eight o'clock on Sunday morning, the 9th. Then seeing that smoke was also coming from the church roof the Rev. Mr. McFall summoned fire companies. The church was levelled, the fire having gained great headway and the firemen being hampered by freezing weather.

It was while the Rev. Mr. McFall was searching the ruins on Thursday that he suffered the stroke which proved fatal.

MRS. THORP, SPEAKER

LANGHORNE, Feb. 19—Americanism month was observed when American Legion Auxiliary held its February session in Jesse W. Soby Post home, here, on Monday evening. At that time 20 new members, affiliating with the Auxiliary through connections of post members who served during World War II, took the obligation of the Auxiliary. They were told by the initiation team of the four things the Auxiliary stands for—justice, freedom, democracy and loyalty. Each was presented with a poppy, the official flower of the Legion; also with an American flag. The presiding officer was Mrs. James Tracy, of Hulmeville.

Mrs. Ernest Robinson reported on progress being made with the minstrel show to be given in the near future, and mentioned the trip of the post and Auxiliary to Coatesville Veterans Hospital on February 2nd when 200 pounds of candy were donated for the men. This will be an Americanism meeting.

The auxiliary has ordered 2500 poppies for sale at Memorial season.

Mrs. Mary Harding reported that public luncheons are being served every other week at the post home, with proceeds to be for the new post home. Membership of the auxiliary now totals 250.

The sum of $25 was donated to the Legion Jr. Drum & Bugle Corps. It was mentioned that at least 10 corps will participate in the contests on Langhorne-Middletown high school field on June 21st.

RADIO TO RUSSIA

The first U. S. experiments in large scale foreign propaganda by radio now are under way.

These are the one-hour Russian-language broadcasts, being beamed to that country over various wavelengths, and directed by the U. S. State Department.

The purpose of the broadcasts is obvious enough. For years we have been hearing that the average John Citizen of Russia is a good enough fellow, and would be very sympathetic to the American people—if only his government would stop deceiving him about true conditions in this land.

So the facts are to be laid before the Russian people, not "direct by mail," as some distributors advertise, but "direct by radio."

Let's make no initial mistake in understanding this matter. This is an act unfriendly to the existing Russian government. It serves notice on Stalin that we think he has been deceiving the men and women of Russia, and that we propose to undo his work.

By implication, what our State Department is trying to do is to make trouble for Premier Stalin in his own back yard. From Stalin's point of view, what we are attempting is to start a political revolution, aimed, if not at unseating Stalin, at least at forcing him to change his foreign policy.

Under General Marshall, Army Chief of Staff during the war, our diplomacy is taking a strongly military turn.

Whether this is wise or not, whether it is right or wrong, are of less importance at the moment than that the American people understand exactly what the implications are.

The Russian concept of government calls for rigid censorship of information and news; not merely over what the outside world learns of what is going on in Russia (the "iron curtain") but over what the Russians are permitted to hear about what goes on outside.

RELEASE 2 FATHERS WHO NOW HAVE JOBS

Both Had Been Sentenced To Prison for Contempt of Court

TO SUPPORT FAMILIES

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 19 — Releases have been granted by Judge Hiram H. Keller to two fathers, both of whom were in arrears on Court support orders and who had been sentenced to prison for contempt of court. The two were released because they have employment and have given promises to support their wives and children.

Richard Hoin, Glennlock street, Philadelphia, who was sentenced to prison September 11, 1946, was released today from contempt because he agreed to comply with a court order. He was placed on probation indefinitely.

Hoin, who was directed to pay an order of $15 a week for the support of his wife, Helen Hoin and two children, Croydon, has obtained employment with the Budd Company, Philadelphia. The support order was originally made December 29, 1945, and Hoin was in the arrears when he was sent to prison for failing to comply with the court's order to notify Probation Officer Horace E. Gwinner concerning his difficulties in meeting the demands.

Earl Driscoll, Morrisville, R. D. 1, who was sentenced to prison May 15, 1946, because of contempt of a court order, was released when he agreed to comply with the support order and his probation was continued.

Driscoll, who obtained employment with the Penna. State Highway Department, is the father of four minor children, Virwinia, Philip, Dorothy and Irene. The children and their mother, Irene Driscoll, were deserted October 29, 1945. At one time he was almost $1,000 in the arrears.

JUDGE WARNS THE TAVERNOPERATORS TO "CLEAN HOUSE"

Testimony in Evans Case is That Men Played Games For Drinks

GIVEN A PRISON TERM

Morrisville Man Found Guilty in Assault Case, with "Intent to Kill"

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 19—An emphatic warning to "clean house" was issued to tavern and tap-room operators by President Judge Hiram H. Keller yesterday after a sentence of from six to 23 months in the county prison and fine of $5 and costs were imposed on Robert Lee Evans, 37, of Bank street, Morrisville.

Evans was convicted by a jury on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill, aggravated assault and battery, and assault and battery. Two other charges were dropped, those of attempt with intent to kill, and carrying a concealed weapon. No evidence was presented to back these two charges and the Commonwealth agreed not to press the same.

The arrest of Evans occurred November 15th following a scuffle and argument inside and outside the Penn Tavern, Morrisville. During the scuffle outside the tavern, William Palmer, 23, of Union street, Morrisville, was stabbed, and remained in a Trenton hospital for two weeks. It was stated that he narrowly escaped losing his life. It was brought out during the trial that a sharp knife was used, but the knife has not been located by authorities.

One witness testified that some of the men had been shooting darts and playing pin-ball games for drinks. In pronouncing sentence, Judge Keller issued a stiff warning to the tavern and tap room operators in Bucks County, telling them they know that it is against the law to permit playing of such games for drinks. He ordered those who have permitted this practice to "clean house," adding that if such practice continues he will order a general clean-up by State Liquor Control Board agents.

The case of the Commonwealth against Bernard Paul Barna, of Trenton, N. J., came before the court yesterday. Barna is on trial before a jury in Judge Keller's court room, the charges lodged being burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods. The prosecutor is Chief Lucks County Detective Anthony Russo, who is assisted by Trooper Cutney, Pa. State Police. It is claimed that Barna broke into the home of Watson Church, Washington Crossing, last November 3rd, and that he stole a radio, revolver, rings and about $5 in cash. It is also charged that he broke into the home of George Bliss, Lower Makefield Township, November 7th, stealing a revolver, ring and cash. The total amount of loot at the two places is listed at $225.

Mr. Church testified that a rear window had been raised at his home, the place entered and goods stolen. The radio was recovered at a radio store. Bliss discovered that the bedroom and other rooms had been ransacked when he returned home on November 7th. According to Mr. Russo, Barna has a long police record. When first arrested Barna admitted the thefts, Russo states, he adding that Barna has since denied charges. Hence he is on trial, the court appointing an attorney to defend him. Barna had not yet taken the witness stand at the middle of this morning.

SUGAR PROSPECTS

In the new Congress sugar rationing, along with other controls left over from the war, faces a highly uncertain future. In addition to the growing sentiment for abolition of remaining controls, there is the possibility that Congress may kill them indirectly by refusing to vote additional funds to the OPA for their enforcement.

This general confusion makes it difficult to say how much importance to attach to the OPA order validating a new ration stamp, good for 10 pounds of sugar, on April 1.

There is one definite gain which housewives can count on as a result of this announcement. The new stamp has been validated one month earlier than was planned. Thus the current five-pounds-per-person ration can be used up in three months instead of being stretched thin over four.

But, except for this circumstance, the new ration leaves the home sugar situation in doubt. The April 1 stamp will be good for 10 pounds instead of five, but this is offset by announcement that no canning stamps will be issued this year. In 1946 a five-pound stamp for sugar for canning was issued in March and another later in the year.

OPA officials now say their "best guess" is that housewives will receive 35 pounds per person in 1947. Republican leaders in Congress have been campaigning for an increase in rations to at least 35 pounds, and preferably 40. It is evident that housewives will do considerably better than the 25-pounds-per-person allotment for 1946. In fact, there doesn't seem to be much justification for continuation of sugar rationing. Perhaps President Truman will issue a dramatic announcement terminating this remnant of war restrictions.

NEW CAR OUTLOOK

With few strikes currently hampering the industry, shortages of materials are holding output of new automobiles below the 100,000-a-week mark. There has been little news in the press recently as to the number of unfilled orders dealers have on their books, but an Omaha purveyor of new cars recently advertised thirteen on hand for immediate delivery and sold them in a few days.

The demand for new cars is as great as it was a year ago, according to William Phillips, general manager of the Philadelphia Automobile Trades Association, but many buyers today prefer to wait for the model or color of their choice. But, he asserts, new names are being placed on dealers' lists as rapidly as cars are being delivered. This would indicate that dealers who handle cars of the major producers at least will not be hard-pressed to dispose of them in 1947.

General Marshall says if an attempt is made to draft him for political office, that is one form of conscription he will oppose.

It is estimated motor car speed can be doubled when all pedestrians have been exterminated.

We, through our State Department and under the supervision of the new military-minded Secretary of State, are trying to break down that censorship—which the Russian government undoubtedly considers a vital factor in its own survival.

Three unknown factors make it impossible to say how effective the experiment can expect to be in working out a better understanding between the Russian and American people. But it doesn't take much thought to see that understanding between the two governments will be farther damaged as its result.

The unknowns concerning the reception of the broadcasts in Russia are these: first, the number of radio receivers there; second, whether the Russians who own sets will listen to the American broadcasts; third, whether they will believe them even if they do listen.

One point should be obvious from the start: if they are to do any good whatever, they must be intellectually honest.

It would be ridiculous for our State Department to spend all the required money, time and energy, and to invite further trouble with the Russian leaders, merely to broadcast a mass of misinformation which could easily be disproved.

The first broadcast (printed in full in Tuesday's New York Times), is not particularly impressive.

For one thing, it contained quite a few borderline statements representing, not the actual truth, but what the New Deal propagandists would like their own as well as foreign peoples to believe is the truth.

As an example, the statement that "full harmony exists between States' rights and the expanded functions of the Federal Government" is considerably less than the "pure and unadulterated truth" which the broadcast said it was going to give. It is likewise untrue for the broadcast to say, as it did, that "laws and regulations governing education, health, police, city government, etc., are entirely within the jurisdiction of the State." The truth is that the Washington bureaucrats have interfered greatly with home rule in all these and kindred matters, and are trying frantically to take over still more power in all of them.

A second example of distorted fact is the statement that "The President, as the head of the Government, or the Secretary of State, as the Foreign Minister, represent the United States before the entire world." Turn to the Constitution, and you will verify a most important omission in this quoted sentence. They "represent the United States" only WITH THE ADVICE AND CONSENT OF THE U. S. SENATE—two-thirds of the Senators present concurring.

But it is in the choice of news bulletins that the broadcast went the farthest overboard in committing itself to propaganda rather than fact.

Mention was made, for instance, of the State Department's eagerness to turn over $25,000,000 of lend-lease to Russia, and of Congress' objections to this plan. But the broadcast significantly omitted mention of the reason for the objection; namely, that the Russian government has refused to discuss terms of paying for $11 billions of lend-lease already sent.

Likewise, there was reference to a "growing Congressional opposition" to proposed cuts in the Federal budget—but no mention for the one reason why there is hesitancy in ordering such reductions: namely, that there is so much suspicion concerning what Russia may have in mind, and so much defeatism about United Nations, that this country is half sold on a gigantic program of military expansion—a "defense program" against Russia!

The strangest light on the true nature of these programs, however, is that thrown by comparing the Russian newscast with the front pages of American newspapers of the same date.

Here are some of the stories gleaned from the front pages of the New York Times and the Philadelphia Inquirer of the same day, none of which was deemed sufficiently newsworthy by the State Department to be passed along to the benighted Russians presumably interested in America's point of view:

"Byrd over South Pole;" "500 Strikers Slow $100,000,000 Work on New York City Buildings;" "Supreme Court Justice Jackson Attacks Colleagues for Wage-Hour Law Ruling;" "Famine Imperils Roumania"; "U. S. Answers Soviet Protest on Acheson Remark;" "Professor Predicts A-Bomb Able to Destroy 400-square-mile area."

These are the really important factors in the grist of daily news which show America's current trends in science, government, military affairs, and in the march towards peace.

Suppression of such a list of headlines in the first broadcast is an ominous sign.

how much the press weighed. Tripodi said that it weighed about five tons. Another question asked by the jury was where did the press sit on the trailer. Tripodi said that it was sitting on the side of the trailer. Coroner Rigby asked if a rope broke when the press fell. He replied that no ropes had broken. One of the jurors asked if the shop foreman was there. Tripoli replied that he was the shop foreman.

The witness was asked by the Coroner how many men were working on the unloading of the press? The witness replied that six or seven men were on the job. One of the jurors asked if a ramp had been built to unload the press and had it given way. Tripodi replied that a ramp had been built and that it had not given way. Coroner Rigby asked if in Tripodi's estimation could he have done anything to prevent the accident. Tripodi said that it happened so fast there was nothing anyone could do.

Jurors then inquired of Tripodi how high the press stood. The reply was about eight feet. Another question asked was where Germer stood. He replied at the bottom of the ramp. Coroner Rigby then asked if any chain blocks had been used. He replied nothing but ropes had been used. Coroner Rigby asked if he had any idea what could have been done to prevent the accident. He replied that he did not have any ideas on that.

The next witness was a timekeeper, Ira J. McKibben, R. D. No. 1, Bristol. He was asked by the Coroner if he saw the accident. He replied he had. The Coroner then told him to tell what he saw. McKibben said as far as he could see it was an unavoidable accident. The press started down the ramp and fell over the side, crushing Germer who was standing on the same side of the ramp as he was. Coroner Rigby asked if he was helping to unload the press. He replied he was not helping, but just standing there watching. One of the jurors asked which side he was on. McKibben said that he was on the same side as the man with the snubbing rope. Coroner Rigby asked if he believed any criminal negligence was involved. McKibben replied that he did not believe there was.

Edward Reeder, State Road, Cornwells Heights, was called. The Coroner asked where he was at the time of the accident. Reeder replied that he was right in back of the drill press holding the rope. He thought he was standing a little too close when the press started to fall and fell on top of it and hurt his arm when he did.

The Coroner asked Reeder to describe what he saw. Reeder said that he was standing in back of the press and it all happened so fast that he does not remember much about it. The next thing he knew after the press started to fall he was on top of it. He was asked if any rope had caught him. He replied that he did not know what knocked him down. One of the jurors asked if the truck had moved. Mr. Reeder said he did not think it did, as the driver was not in the truck. Another member of the jury asked how much farther it had to go when it fell. Reeder replied that it still had to go about two feet. Coroner Rigby asked him if he felt all precautions had been taken or if there was any criminal negligence on anyone's part. He replied that he felt that all precautions had been taken and no one was criminally negligent.

Charles Schmitt, Bristol R. D. No. 1, driver of the truck, then took the witness stand. Schmitt said he drove the truck to the plant and set the blocks up for the ramp to unload and then stood to one side as that was all he was supposed to do. He was asked if he had the wheels blocked. He replied that he put blocks under the wheels and had the brakes on. He was asked what his job was. Schmitt replied, "Just to drive the trailer into the plant and it was not my job to unload it."

Albert Schmitt, Bristol R. D. 1, was asked if he saw the accident. He replied he had not, that he was around the plant but did not witness the accident.

Joseph Soba, Hulmeville, said he did not see the accident. He was at the plant just outside of the front door. Soba said he owned the trailer and that it was hired by Germer to move the drill press. Coroner Rigby asked if Germer had any contract to do anything else with the trailer. He replied that the trailer was hired to just move the drill press and the trailer was all that was hired.

The jury was out about a half-hour and brought in the following verdict: "Fred W. Germer came to his death on January 17, 1947, at about 11 a. m., from a fractured skull and crushed chest at the plant of the Advanced Aircraft Company, of Cornwells Heights, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, from the result of a heavy drill press falling upon his body. We do not find from the evidence submitted that anyone was criminally negligent in the death of Fred W. Germer," concluded the verdict.

Almighty and everlasting God, who art ever ready to forgive the sins of those who are penitent, we turn to Thee in this Holy season of Lent, and pray that Thou will accept us just as we are. Cleanse and purify our hearts, help us to abstain from all things that prevent us from being true followers of Thee. We ask it in Christ's name. Amen.

HIGH SCHOOL FIVE WINS EASILY OVER BENSALEM

Pindar Shatters Individual Scoring Record With 33 Points

FINAL SCORE IS 79 TO 23

Bensalem Was Only in The Game for First Quarter

"Johnny" Pindar shattered the individual scoring record for the year last night as he scored 33 points to lead Bristol High to a 79-23 victory over the Bensalem Owls. It was Bristol's tenth straight Lower Bucks Co. League triumph.

Pindar made 15 field goals and three out of four fouls to break the record. The previous mark was 29, made earlier in the season also by Pindar.

The Bensalem team was only in the game for the first quarter when it played Bristol closely. At one stage of the tilt, Hansen tied the score at 6-6 and followed with an over-handed twin-pointer which put the Owls in front, 8-6. But Pindar scored under the basket to tie the score and following the goal, "Jim" Sottille intercepted the throw-in and scored a fielder to put the Bunnies in front, a lead which was never relinquished.

Although Pindar was high man, "Easy" Mama shared the spotlight by grabbing 22 points while "Jack" Hansen scored 9 for Bensalem. Hansen went out on an injury in the third quarter.

Although it could not be officially confirmed, there were rumors that scouts from the Radnor High team were eyeing the Bristol team. Coach Don Fetterman has not received word whom Bristol will meet in the opening game of the P. I. A. A. tournament but it is almost certain to be Radnor High.

Union Horse Company Has Novel Initiation

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 19—"Have you seen a black horse with a white tail running loose in your travels?"

That was the surprising question that was asked by seventeen "baby colts" of the Union Horse Company last Saturday afternoon as they were turned loose on the streets of Doylestown by the company's president, Judge Hiram H. Keller, as part of an initiation ceremony at the 112th annual meeting of The Union Horse Company of Doylestown Township and Vicinity.

Those who answered the question—each recruit had to stop and question three persons—were rewarded with a small money token after they had signed the back of the recruit's initiation and identification badge. In order to become a member of the ancient and honorable order for "detecting and apprehending horse thieves and other villains," the recruit had to have three signatures on his identification badge.

All seventeen recruits returned successful in the "People Are Funny" stunt, although a number of them were looked upon as somewhat "balmy" by those who were questioned and were not "in" on the stunt.

This stunt started off an afternoon of fun at the Fountain House where the 1947 meeting and dinner was held. Eighty members of the company turned out and listened to the usual reports and to the election of officers. As has been the case for years—no horse thefts were reported, but the fellowship of the Unioneers reached an all-time high pitch.

The Legislature Today . . .

By International News Service

Legislation empowering the commonwealth's revenue-hungry municipalities to collect millions of dollars in new taxes was in the hopper.

The measure—sponsored by Rep. William J. Stonier (R), Lackawanna—to broaden Scranton's taxing powers was being held in abeyance pending presentation of Gov. James H. Duff's budget.

Some assemblymen predicted the bill would be extended to cover Pittsburgh, third-class cities and boroughs. It would allow municipalities to levy on items not taxed by the state.

The House was expected to speed action on a series of Senate-approved bills changing the primary election date in odd numbered years from June to September.

A bill authorizing use of marriage licenses in counties other than those in which one of the applicants resides was sent to the Senate by the House.

Legislation authorizing the use of a special machine in signing $1000 denomination turnpike commission bonds was passed by the House and sent to Governor Duff for approval.

A measure to open the way for a state bonus for veterans of World War II was slated to be referred to the House Military Affairs Committee for public hearings.

Senate Minority leader John H. Dent hurled new charges at the State Liquor Control Board after Chairman Frederick T. Gelder demanded that Dent produce facts or withdraw accusations.

A Committee of Fair Employment Practices was pressing the General Assembly for legislation outlawing discrimination in employment.
